The Gallery and Holy Communion

Ministers of the Eucharist are finding it increasingly difficult to distribute Holy Communion in the gallery of St Joseph's Church. The issue was raised at a recent Pastoral Assembly meeting and the following recommendations were made:

The Minister should leave the sanctuary immediately after receiving communion and go directly to the gallery.

The Minister should be given the necessary passageway to get to the appointed distribution spot. That means people standing in the hall and on the stairs should allow the Minister to pass and not present for Holy Communion while the Minister is on the way to the gallery.

People are asked to approach the Minister in an orderly way, forming a line and taking plenty time. Please do not rush the Minister.

Gabriel McCarthy, a member of the Pastoral Assembly will monitor the situation and make further changes in the interest of a smoother experience for all.
