Your support is much appreciated

Sincere thanks for your support and kindness during the past year.

Despite what some people think, neither the Pope nor the Bishop nor anyone else out there pays the priests their regular income. Priests in Cork and Ross Diocese are paid directly by parishioners.

The priest's salary is made up as follows :

- Offerings on Christmas Day and Easter Sunday, only two Offertory collections in the entire year, go to the priests. All other Offertory collections in the church go to the running and maintenance of the church. Those monies are not given to the priests.
- The Spring Dues, usually taken up at the Spring Stations during the Season of Lent, and the Autumn Dues, usually taken up at the Autumn Stations during September and October, form part of the priest's salary. The payment of Dues to the priest is a long-standing tradition here in Cork and Ross and it is well supported.

- Contributions to the Novena of Masses offered by each priest for the Faithful Departed at the start of November go to the priest.
- Finally, daily mass stipends – only one a day - and stipends for baptisms, weddings and funerals go to the priest.

The income of priests is regulated throughout the Diocese by a "Fraternity Group" to insure that the income is evenly distributed. This has the advantage of doing away with the conception of "good" parishes in the sense of "higher income." Priests are self-assessed for tax purposes and can be spot checked by Revenue just like everyone else.

Again sincere thanks to everyone in Glanmire who contributed to the support of our priests – Fr John Newman, P.P. and Fr Anthony Buckley – during 2016.

Ministers of the Word: New Missal is available in the sacristy.

Death: Sincere sympathy to the family, relatives and friends of Nonie Allen, Glanmire, formerly of Whitechurch who died on January 3rd.
